It is doubtful if the history of Allen street can show anything like the popularity it now enjoys. The crowd in the vicinity of Rivington street during the hours that "The World's" bread station is open is innumerable.

People in distress, children in poverty, the homeless, friendless and foodless come from all sections of the city.

sioner Randolph Guggenheimer, the latter acting as representative of the Board of Education. The Commissioners decided that the circular of the Board of Trustees, explaining the scheme of the founder of the ten colarships, be distributed among the scholars for their information and guidance.

It was explained in this circular that Mr. Pulitzer proposed to give a stipend of $250 a year to the ten boys selected, for the purpose of enabling them to prepare for and to take a college course in any first-class college in the United States which they might choose. In addition to receiving this stated stipend, the holes of the many of them—who said that they had been taught no graphic method of the divergence of the caminers was rendered many as the policy of the committee of placing the papers in the committee of placing the papers in the boys themselves were seen and talked to and an effort made to gain their confidence, so that they might remove that almost without a few for the gratifying to find that almost without a exception, those who were chosen an exception, those who had seen neither the boys themselves were seen and talked to and an effort made to gain their confidence, so that they might confidence, so that they might confidence sufficiently to talk freely.

Another interesting point was that the papers passed through the hands of more than one examiner, each working independently, and comparing results. The direct contact with them made it possible to appreciate what this philantent to those who appears of their solves of the examiners as the proposed to give a stipend.

The work of the examiners was rendered the policy of the committee of placing the analysis of a sentence.
